Message from the Leadership

Dear Valued Clients, Business Partners and Art Enthusiasts,

Art has a remarkable way of bringing people together. It invites us to pause, to see familiar things differently and, at times, to discover stories that words alone cannot tell. Every brushstroke, every colour and every composition reflect not only the imagination of the artist, but also the experiences, emotions and perspectives that shape our shared humanity.

Since its establishment in 2016, RHB Art with Heart has celebrated the richness of Malaysia's artistic landscape by providing a platform for emerging and established artists to share their work with a wider audience. Over the years, the exhibition has become more than a showcase of creative talent. It has grown into a space where artists, collectors and the community come together through a shared appreciation of art and the conversations it inspires.

This year, we are privileged to present the works of 66 Malaysian artists. For the first time, Art with Heart also welcomes 14 neurodivergent youth from the RHB #Empower programme, marking an important milestone in the exhibition's evolution. Over the course of the 12-week programme, they explored painting through guided art sessions that encouraged creative exploration, self-expression and confidence. At Art with Heart 2026, they present 28 artworks, marking the programme's debut at the exhibition.

Together with the works of established and emerging Malaysian artists, their participation reflects our belief that creativity knows no boundaries and that meaningful opportunities enable individuals to express themselves, share their perspectives and connect with a wider audience. These different creative journeys come together in the spirit of Breaking Boundaries.

The theme, Breaking Boundaries, reflects this spirit. It celebrates those who are willing to explore new ideas, challenge conventions and see possibilities beyond perceived limitations. Whether on canvas, in our communities or in everyday life, progress often begins with the courage to take that first step into unfamiliar territory.

At RHB, our purpose of Making Progress Happen for Everyone extends beyond financial services. It is reflected in opportunities we create for individuals and communities to realise their potential. Through initiatives such as Art with Heart and RHB #Empower, we strive to create opportunities for individuals to explore their creativity, encourage greater inclusion and contribute to a vibrant cultural landscape where every individual can be seen, heard and appreciated.

To all our participating artists, the curator, partners, clients, collectors and supporters, thank you for your passion, generosity and belief in the power of art to inspire and connect people. Your contributions continue to shape Art with Heart into what it is today.

As you journey through this exhibition, we hope you will take time to enjoy not only the artworks before you, but also the stories, perspectives and aspirations behind each piece. May they spark curiosity, invite reflection and perhaps even inspire new ways of seeing the world around us.

TAN SRI AHMAD BADRI MOHD ZAHIR

Chairman

DATO' MOHD RASHID MOHAMAD

Group Managing Director/Group Chief Executive Officer

For its seventh edition, Art with Heart 2026 takes on the theme Breaking Boundaries – recognising that the most interesting art often happens at the edges of convention.

This year's exhibition brings that idea to life in several ways. Traditional practices sit beside experimental and mixed-media works, because the exhibition treats range as a strength rather than something to be sorted into categories.

Breaking Boundaries also reflects the different journeys that can lead someone to art. Returning to Art with Heart this year are neurodivergent artists whose distinctive practices continue to evolve and gain recognition, reflecting the many ways creative voices can develop and find their place within Malaysia's artistic landscape.

Alongside them are 14 neurodivergent young adults from RHB #Empower programme. Over 12 weeks, they were introduced to painting techniques through guided art sessions, with the space to learn, experiment and develop their creative expression. At Art with Heart 2026, they can now share what they have created with a wider audience, a meaningful progression from learning and discovery to having their work seen and recognised.

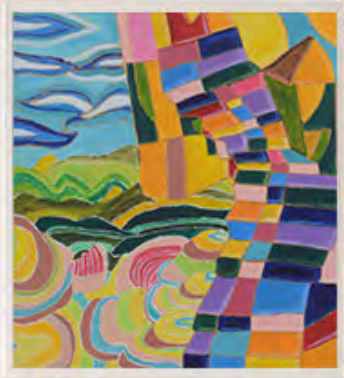

These different journeys sit within the same exhibition, each with a story of its own. Together, they reflect what Breaking Boundaries is about: making room for new perspectives, encouraging creative exploration, and recognising the possibilities that emerge when people are given the opportunity to express themselves.

Art with Heart is also about creating connections. It brings artists into conversation with collectors, art enthusiasts and new audiences, whether through the discovery of a name encountered for the first time or the pleasure of reconnecting with an artist whose practice has become familiar over the years.

More than an exhibition, Art with Heart reflects RHB Banking Group's belief that art can spark honest dialogue, challenge fixed perspectives, and help build a creative ecosystem where Malaysian artists can grow, connect and thrive.

We warmly welcome you to RHB Art with Heart 2026.

We hope you will discover something unexpected, see a familiar perspective differently and, perhaps, break a few boundaries of your own.

Curator's Note

Every edition of RHB Art with Heart captures a moment in the evolution of Malaysian contemporary art. This year's exhibition, Breaking Boundaries, highlights artists expanding their practice through materials, processes and ideas. Painting sits alongside textiles, embroidery, weaving, found objects, reclaimed materials, industrial components and mixed media, while traditional techniques are reinterpreted through contemporary perspectives. Collectively, the works reveal Malaysian artists moving across disciplines while remaining connected to their histories, cultures and experiences.

This spirit of exploration is expressed in many different ways throughout the exhibition. Textile and fibre artists such as Afiza Abu Bakar, Daisy Ooi, Fitrah Ramli, Koshila Raja Sandow, and Xeem Noor demonstrate how traditional materials continue to inspire contemporary artistic expression. In "Perceived Boundaries", Afiza transforms the craft of tekat embroidery into an exploration of perception and resilience. Koshila's abstract relief, inspired by the legendary Srikandi, combines felt, silk and deconstructed songket to explore strength, femininity and cultural memory.

Material innovation also becomes a vehicle for conversations about sustainability and transformation. Syafik Hariz creates sculptural forms inspired by natural ecosystems using industrial materials. Nor Tijan Firdaus transforms electronic waste into "Neo Songket", giving discarded technology new meaning through the visual language of traditional Malay weaving. Asikin Roslan develops natural pigments from Nyirih wood, and Luqman Ismail employs his distinctive hydro-masking technique to create imagined landscapes shaped by memory and process.

These artists are joined by many others, including Ayue Juman, Joanne Loo, Putra Aqmal, Suhana Nordin, Syed Zamzur Akasah, and Yuki Mun, whose inventive approaches enrich the exhibition. Painters such as Aimman Hafizal, CC Kua, Emy Thiran, Faez Fahmi, Foong Yeng Yeng, Hirzaq Harris, Mulaika, and SM Raja demonstrate that innovation also emerges through observation, technique and visual storytelling.

A defining strength of this year's exhibition is the diversity of voices it brings together. Among the participating artists are four established neurodivergent artists: Danial Kushairi, Maryam Zhafira, Ryan Chee, and Wan Jamila (Artjamila). Their participation is further complemented by 14 artists from the RHB #Empower 2026 programme, reflecting the importance of creating meaningful pathways for emerging neurodivergent artists to develop and share their work.

Having curated RHB Art with Heart over several editions, one constant remains: the artists continue to surprise. Each exhibition reveals new ideas, material explorations, and unexpected perspectives. Breaking Boundaries is both a platform for fresh discoveries and an opportunity to rediscover familiar artists whose practices continue to evolve with confidence and technical sophistication.

My sincere appreciation goes to RHB for placing their trust in me to curate RHB Art with Heart for the third time, and to all 66 participating artists for their openness, generosity, and dedication throughout this journey.

Above all, I hope that Breaking Boundaries invites you to look a little longer, discover an artist you have not encountered before, revisit a familiar name with fresh eyes, and appreciate the thought behind each work.

Note: The works and artists referenced above reflect the breadth of this year's exhibition rather than a ranked or definitive selection. Every one of the 66 participating artists is profiled in full within this catalogue.

ADAM LAIS

Adam Lais bin Ahmad Shukri is a Malaysian contemporary artist whose multidisciplinary practice explores perception, labour, and the social landscapes of everyday urban life through painting and mixed media. Drawing inspiration from architecture, construction materials, and public spaces, he transforms familiar structures into visual metaphors that question how cities shape what is seen, valued, and remembered. Through layered surfaces, industrial textures, and abstract compositions, Adam examines the relationship between visibility and labour, drawing attention to the often-overlooked individuals and communities whose work quietly sustains the urban environment. His practice invites viewers to reconsider how value is assigned within the spaces we inhabit.

Adam is currently pursuing a Bachelor of Landscape Architecture at Universiti Teknologi MARA (UiTM). In 2022, he contributed to the Arca Dasar Laut (Underwater Sculpture) initiative in Langkawi, a community-based tourism programme led by the Ministry of Tourism, Arts and Culture Malaysia. Alongside his studio practice, he actively participates in exhibitions across Malaysia while continuing to experiment with materials and interdisciplinary approaches informed by landscape, design, skateboarding, hip-hop, and community engagement.

AFIZA ABU BAKAR

Afiza Abu Bakar is a Malaysian contemporary textile artist whose practice explores perception, materiality, and the quiet passage of time through handweaving and textile-based processes. Working with woven structures, tekot embroidery, and mixed media, she embraces the slow, intuitive nature of handcraft while investigating how meaning emerges through material, form, and the viewer's perception.

Inspired by Gestalt psychology, Afiza explores how the human mind instinctively completes fragmented forms and perceives separate elements as a unified whole. She creates layered compositions that invite viewers to construct meaning from both what is seen and what remains unseen. Through subtle interruptions, textured surfaces, and rhythmic woven patterns, she invites reflection on the boundaries between absence and presence, tradition and contemporary expression.

Afiza's practice prioritises process over precision, allowing the rhythms of weaving and embroidery to shape each work organically. By combining contemporary handweaving with the cultural heritage of tekot, she transforms traditional textile techniques into contemplative works that celebrate the human touch, patience, and craftsmanship. Her tactile surfaces reflect an ongoing exploration of perception, memory, and the quiet dialogue between maker, material, and viewer.

AIMAN ZAIM

Amirul Aiman Mohd Zaim is an emerging contemporary artist whose practice explores movement, emotion, and human presence through expressive semi-abstract painting. Working primarily with mixed media, he employs gestural lines, layered colours, and fluid forms to capture the force and rhythm of movement.

Drawing inspiration from human figures, animals, and sport, Amirul examines how physical motion can reveal emotional states, translating impact, pressure, vulnerability, and transformation into dynamic visual compositions.

In works inspired by contact sports such as rugby, Amirul treats the collision of bodies as more than a moment of physical intensity. For him, impact becomes a metaphor for ambition, struggle, and growth, where pressure and challenge shape personal development.

Amirul holds a Bachelor of Fine Arts (Hons) from Universiti Teknologi MARA (UiTM) Shah Alam and a Diploma in Mechanical Engineering from UiTM.

Drawing inspiration from everyday encounters, she transforms ordinary moments into contemplative visual narratives that challenge perspectives, evoke empathy and celebrate resilience.

Animals, particularly cats, appear in her work not merely as subjects but as symbols of comfort, companionship, and quiet resilience. Through expressive compositions and subtle storytelling, Aimi examines how seemingly ordinary experiences can become moments of reflection, renewal, and personal transformation, reminding viewers that life's greatest blessings often arrive in unexpected forms.

Aimi holds a Master's in Visual Art and Design from Universiti Sains Malaysia (USM) and a Degree in Fine Arts from Universiti Teknologi MARA (UiTM).

AIMMAN HAFIZAL

Aimman Hafizal is a Malaysian contemporary artist whose multidisciplinary practice spans painting, illustration, graphic design, and visual storytelling. Combining technical precision with surreal imagery and satire, he creates imaginative narratives that examine contemporary society, popular culture, and human behaviour.

Drawing inspiration from folklore, Malay proverbs, and everyday observations, Aimman reinterprets familiar cultural references through humour and fantasy, inviting viewers to question how identity, belief, and collective behaviour are shaped in an increasingly connected world. His works frequently blur the boundaries between reality and fiction, using playful symbolism and unexpected juxtapositions to encourage critical reflection beneath their whimsical surfaces. In "Bagai Ketam Mengajar Anaknya Berjalan Betul", he reimagines the well-known proverb as a satirical reflection on influence, encouraging viewers to consider that actions speak louder than words.

Aimman holds a Master's in Fine Art and Technology from Universiti Teknologi MARA (UiTM) and a Bachelor of Fine Art (Painting) with First Class Honours from UiTM Shah Alam, where he received the Vice Chancellor Award. He also graduated with distinction from UiTM Seri Iskandar with a Diploma in Fine Arts.

ASIKIN ROSLAN

Asikin Roslan is a Malaysian contemporary artist whose multidisciplinary practice explores sustainability, material innovation, and indigenous knowledge through painting and mixed media. She investigates how traditional materials and indigenous craft practices can create new meanings through her use of natural dyes, printmaking, and experimental surfaces, within a contemporary context.

Her works frequently emerge from extensive material research, transforming locally sourced organic materials into expressive visual languages that celebrate the relationships among nature, culture, and making. Through repetition, layering, and tactile mark-making, Asikin examines rhythm, memory, and the enduring value of knowledge passed from one generation to the next, positioning traditional practices as living methodologies that continue to evolve rather than static cultural artefacts.

Asikin holds a Master of Education (Visual Arts) from Universiti Teknologi MARA (UiTM), where her research further expanded the dialogue between contemporary art, sustainability, and material experimentation. Alongside her studio practice, she is a multimedia lecturer at the Faculty of Computing and Multimedia, Universiti Poly-Tech Malaysia (UPTM), contributing to interdisciplinary approaches that bridge art, design, and technology. Through her practice, Asikin continues to advocate for environmentally conscious artmaking while celebrating Malaysia's rich craft traditions through contemporary artistic expression.

AYUE JUMAN

Ayue Juman is a Malaysian sculptor from Tambunan, Sabah, whose practice is rooted in the belief that the act of making is itself a form of remembrance. Inspired by her grandfather, a skilled wakid basket maker, she regards traditional craftsmanship not merely as a practical skill but as a living archive of memory, identity, and human connection. Her sculptures honour the quiet dignity of handmade labour while reflecting on legacy, exploring how the things we create continue to carry our presence long after we are gone. Through this dialogue between ancestral knowledge and contemporary art, Ayue contributes to the preservation and reinterpretation of Malaysia's indigenous craft traditions for new generations.

Ayue holds a Bachelor of Fine Arts (Hons) with First Class Honours from Universiti Teknologi MARA (UiTM) Shah Alam and a Diploma in Fine Arts from UiTM Kota Samarahan, Sarawak. She was selected for the Iltizam Seni Artist Residency Programme by Ekuinas and participated in the Young Art Entrepreneur (YAE) Programme organised by the National Art Gallery Malaysia. Through exhibitions, workshops, and community-based initiatives, she continues to champion traditional craft practices while expanding the possibilities of contemporary sculpture.

DAISY OOI

Daisy Ooi is a Malaysian contemporary artist whose abstract practice explores healing, transformation, and the emotional landscapes of the human experience. Working primarily with tulle, thread, acrylic, and mixed media, she creates luminous, layered compositions that evoke states of transition, renewal, and inner reflection.

Drawn to the translucent qualities of tulle, Daisy builds ethereal surfaces that allow light, colour, and space to interact, expressing the invisible processes of personal growth and emotional change. Her works invite viewers to pause, let go of what no longer serves them, and embrace the possibility of renewal, reflecting her belief that transformation begins with self-awareness and acceptance.

Following a successful career in interior design, Daisy turned to art as a form of personal healing, exploring themes of spirituality, philosophy, and psychology through an intuitive abstract language. Her meditative weaving and embroidery techniques depart from conventional textile traditions, allowing materials to evolve organically into layered compositions. Through her practice, Daisy continues to investigate how abstraction can become a quiet catalyst for emotional resilience, encouraging reflection, restoration, and the continual process of becoming.

HIRZAQ HARRIS

Hirzaq Harris is a Malaysian contemporary artist whose practice explores memory, history, and cultural identity through painting and mixed media. Drawing inspiration from vintage postage stamps, he creates meticulously composed works that transform familiar postal imagery into visual narratives reflecting Malaysia's cultural heritage and collective memory.

Through clean graphic lines and carefully structured compositions, Hirzaq reinterprets everyday symbols as contemporary artefacts that preserve stories of place, identity, and human connection. Drawn to the personal histories embedded in handwritten letters and postage stamps, he regards these everyday objects as quiet witnesses to human connection across time and distance. This fascination forms the foundation of his practice, in which vintage stamp imagery serves as a recurring visual language through which he explores memory, heritage, and the enduring significance of communication in an increasingly digital world.

Hirzaq holds a Bachelor of Fine Arts (Sculpture) from Universiti Teknologi MARA (UiTM). Since 2007, he has exhibited extensively in Malaysia and has developed a distinctive visual language that bridges contemporary art with historical iconography. He has held three solo exhibitions, with his first, entitled Mission, at Galeri Chandan in Kuala Lumpur in 2014, marking an important milestone in his artistic career.

IZZAT AZMAN

Izzat Azman is a Malaysian contemporary artist whose practice explores political satire, power, and the complexities of contemporary society through figurative painting and narrative symbolism. Drawing inspiration from history, popular culture, and current affairs, he constructs layered visual allegories that examine authority, conflict, and the consequences of political ambition. His works frequently appropriate familiar cultural icons and fictional characters, recontextualising them as metaphors for leadership, ideology, and the shifting dynamics of global power. KHALIQ MIZIE

Khaliq Mizie is an emerging Malaysian contemporary artist whose practice explores identity, personal growth, and cultural values through painting and mixed media. Drawing inspiration from Malay proverbs, traditions, and everyday observations, he creates symbolic compositions that reflect on the relationship between human character and lived experience. Working primarily with acrylic and charcoal, Khaliq combines expressive brushwork with figurative and natural motifs to examine themes of humility, perseverance, and transformation.

His artwork “Tunduk” is inspired by the Malay proverb, “Ikut resmi padi, makin berisi makin tunduk” — the belief that the more knowledge, success, and wisdom one gains, the humbler one should become. Using paddy as a metaphor, he reflects on personal growth and reminds viewers that true achievement is measured not only by accomplishment, but also by humility.

Currently pursuing a Bachelor of Fine Arts at Universiti Teknologi MARA (UiTM) Shah Alam, Khaliq draws inspiration from Western Impressionist masters while developing a visual language rooted in Malaysian culture. Through continual experimentation across media, he seeks to create works that balance technical exploration with personal expression, translating traditional wisdom into contemporary visual narratives.

KOSHILA RAJA SANDOW

Koshila Raja Sandow is a Malaysian contemporary textile artist and educator whose practice explores cultural identity, material memory, and feminine narratives through fibre art. Working across textile construction, embroidery, and sculptural surface manipulation, she creates richly textured relief works that reinterpret traditional craftsmanship within a contemporary context. Combining felt, silk, songket, and natural fibres, Koshila transforms textiles into tactile landscapes where symbolism, material, and cultural heritage converge.

Drawing inspiration from mythology, cultural traditions, and decorative motifs, she reimagines symbols of strength, resilience, and identity through abstract forms that celebrate the coexistence of power and grace. Her practice often employs processes of construction and deconstruction, allowing traditional materials and patterns to be dismantled, reconstructed, and recontextualised as contemporary expressions of cultural continuity. Characterised by raised, relief-like surfaces, her practice blurs the boundaries between textile, design, and contemporary art, positioning fibre as a powerful medium for storytelling and cultural expression.

Koshila holds a Bachelor of Arts (Hons) in Fashion Studies from the University of Lincoln, United Kingdom, and a Postgraduate Certificate in Education from the University of Nottingham (Malaysia). Alongside her studio practice, she lectures in fashion and textile studies at the tertiary level, nurturing the next generation of designers and makers. Through her ongoing exploration of hybridity, traditional textile techniques, and cross-cultural narratives, she continues to expand the possibilities of fibre art while celebrating the richness of Malaysia's multicultural heritage.

LI MING

Li Ming's artistic practice explores the relationship between nature and human intervention through hand-pressed botanical materials. Working with carefully collected and preserved flowers, she transforms ephemeral plant matter into abstract compositions that reflect on cultivation, care, and the quiet passage of time. Her works explore the beauty of coexistence, suggesting that harmony emerges not through sameness, but through the acceptance of difference. Through this meditative process, she transforms fragile organic materials into contemplative artworks that speak of growth, impermanence, resilience, and belonging.

Originally trained in law, Li Ming approaches her artistic practice through patience, observation, and accumulation. Working primarily with pressed flowers on paper and acrylic, she repositions botanical materials beyond their decorative function, exploring their expressive potential within contemporary art. Through her distinctive material practice, she creates contemplative works that bridge abstraction, landscape, and natural history while celebrating the delicate beauty of the everyday.

LINA TAN

Born in Sabah, Malaysia, Lina Tan explores memory, emotion, and personal experience through painting. Working primarily in acrylic, she creates intimate compositions that draw from everyday encounters, psychological states, and the natural world. Her recent works increasingly incorporate plants and flowers as symbolic elements, using botanical imagery to reflect themes of resilience, transformation, isolation, and healing. Her works often capture transitional moments in nature — such as dawn, dusk, and shifting seasons — where familiar landscapes are transformed by light and atmosphere. Balancing expressive brushwork with quiet observation, Lina's paintings examine the relationship between inner emotional landscapes and the environments that surround them.

Lina holds a Diploma in Graphic Design from Saito University College. Beginning her creative career in digital illustration before transitioning to painting, she has developed a distinctive visual language that combines figurative narratives with symbolic explorations of nature. Since her first solo exhibition in 2019, she has exhibited extensively in Malaysia while continuing to expand her practice through sustained investigations into identity, mental wellbeing, and the emotional resonance of botanical forms.

LUQMAN ISMAIL

Born in Kelantan, Malaysia, Luqman Ismail explores the philosophy of landscape through experimental printmaking and mixed media. Working with spray paint, stencils, and acrylic, he developed hydro-masking, an innovative printmaking technique that uses water as a matrix rather than a conventional painting tool. Instead of relying on brushstrokes, the process allows water to flow, pool, and evaporate naturally, generating intricate textures and atmospheric surfaces before layers of spray paint are applied. The resulting compositions possess a distinctive softness and luminosity that evoke mist, shifting light, and blurred memories, producing effects that conventional painting techniques cannot achieve. Inspired by science, philosophy, and personal narratives, Luqman's works reinterpret landscapes as emotional and psychological spaces shaped by memory, light, and the passage of time.

Luqman holds a Bachelor of Fine Arts (Hons) in Printmaking from Universiti Teknologi MARA (UiTM) Shah Alam. Based in Shah Alam, he continues to experiment with industrial materials and alternative printmaking processes, developing a distinctive visual language that combines technical innovation with conceptual enquiry into reality, memory, and human perception.

MULAIKA

Mulaika is a Malaysian contemporary artist whose practice explores impermanence, environmental change, and the human condition through abstract painting and mixed media. Working with acrylic, charcoal, sand, and found natural materials, she creates layered landscapes that reflect the fragile balance between humanity and the natural world. Her expressive compositions respond to ecological uncertainty while exploring the emotional weight of living through periods of transition, in which vulnerability and resilience coexist. Inspired by the Malay proverb “bagai telur di hujung tanduk”, which describes a state of extreme uncertainty and precariousness, Mulaika reimagines landscape as both a physical terrain and a psychological space shaped by memory, care, and hope. “Hujung Tanduk” is an homage her lineage from Batu Kikir, Kuala Pilah, in Negeri Sembilan – referencing the Minangkabau houses with elongated roofs, such as the Rumah Godang.

Presently informed by a heightened awareness of life’s uncertainties, her practice is shaped by caring for her grandmother, navigating the realities of pursuing a full-time art career, and reflecting on her responsibility towards the environment and society. These experiences have deepened her commitment to creating work that fosters empathy, environmental stewardship, and education, and she believes that art can cultivate awareness, inspire meaningful dialogue, and contribute to a more compassionate future.

Mulaika holds a Bachelor of Laws (LLB) from Queen’s University Belfast and previously studied at Brickfields Asia College. At the age of 16, she became the youngest artist to present a solo exhibition under the National Art Gallery Malaysia’s Creative Space programme. She has held four solo exhibitions and exhibited widely across Malaysia, earning international recognition, including the “Dazed 100 Asia 2024” list and Tatler Asia’s “Four Female Malaysian Artists to Watch 2021”.

Nor Tijan Firdaus is a Malaysian contemporary artist whose multidisciplinary practice bridges sculpture, assemblage, and relief painting. Working primarily with discarded electronic components and post-consumer materials, she transforms everyday waste into intricately layered compositions that examine sustainability, material culture, and contemporary consumerism. Combining sculptural construction with painterly sensibilities, her works blur the boundaries between two and three dimensions while revealing the overlooked aesthetic qualities of recycled materials. Through her practice, Nor Tijan invites viewers to reconsider the environmental impact of consumption and the hidden value embedded within discarded objects.

Nor Tijan holds a Master of Fine Arts and Technology from Universiti Teknologi MARA (UiTM) and a Bachelor of Fine Arts (Hons) in Sculpture from UiTM Shah Alam. Her sustainability research has become central to her artistic practice, inspiring a body of work that reimagines electronic waste as a contemporary visual language. Her recent Seek series employs the iconic Pac-Man ghost as a metaphor for human consumption, embedding landscapes and natural imagery within its form to reflect the environmental consequences of modern living while proposing new possibilities for sculpture and assemblage.

Putra Aqmal is a Malaysian contemporary artist whose practice bridges portraiture, social realism, and street art. Drawing inspiration from the people he encounters in everyday life, he creates emotionally resonant works that explore dignity, resilience, and the unseen stories behind ordinary lives. Working primarily in acrylic on discarded cardboard, Putra transforms overlooked materials into powerful narratives that challenge perceptions of value while reflecting the realities of those living on society's margins. His recurring subjects including street performers, workers, and members of vulnerable communities invite viewers to look beyond outward appearances and recognise the sacrifices, hopes, and quiet acts of perseverance that often remain invisible. Through his practice, discarded cardboard becomes both canvas and metaphor, symbolising resilience, survival, and the human capacity to find meaning despite adversity.

A self-taught artist, Putra has developed his practice through continuous observation, public engagement, and participation in exhibitions and art competitions. His ongoing Love on the Streets series reflects his commitment to documenting the lives of marginalised communities, using portraiture as a platform for empathy and social awareness. Since 2018, he has built a growing reputation through public commissions, and his works have been recognised nationally and internationally for transforming everyday encounters into poignant reflections on the human condition.

REN XIN

Lee Ren Xin's artistic practice spans painting, drawing, and printmaking. Working primarily in oil paint, she explores the relationship between urban development, architecture, and the human condition through repetitive compositions and geometric structures. Bamboo scaffolding — an enduring feature of construction sites across many Asian cities — serves as a recurring motif in her work, symbolising the pressures of rapid urbanisation, societal expectations, and the complexities of contemporary life. Through layered compositions and carefully constructed spatial rhythms, Ren Xin transforms familiar architectural elements into contemplative visual metaphors that examine resilience, restriction, and change.

Ren Xin studied fine art at the Malaysian Institute of Art (MIA), where she developed a multidisciplinary practice grounded in painting and printmaking. Since graduating, she has actively exhibited in group exhibitions across Malaysia while continuing to refine her distinctive visual language through sustained explorations of structure, repetition, and the evolving urban landscape.

RHB #Empower: Building Confidence Through Creativity

Every exhibition begins with a story.

For many artists, that story is shaped by years of practice, study, and dedication to their craft. For the fourteen participants featured in this catalogue, it began with something equally important: the opportunity to discover their strengths, express themselves, and believe that their voices deserve to be heard.

That journey began with RHB #Empower.

RHB #Empower is RHB's capability-building programme designed to nurture the potential of neurodiverse individuals by building confidence, developing skills and creating meaningful opportunities for greater participation and inclusion. While the programme first focused on workplace readiness and employability, it has since evolved to recognise that meaningful inclusion begins much earlier, by helping individuals discover their strengths, build self-belief, and realise their potential.

For its second cohort, RHB #Empower introduced creative capacity building as another pathway to empowerment. Through twelve weeks of structured art workshops, professional mentorship, and therapeutic support, fourteen neurodiverse participants explored creativity not simply as an artistic pursuit, but as a way to develop confidence, communication, self expression, and social interaction. Success is measured not only by artistic outcomes, but by personal growth, participation, and the confidence to share one's work with the wider community.

Art became the vehicle. Confidence became the transformation.

Art with Heart 2026 is the platform where that transformation is now shared with the wider community.

For years, Art with Heart has celebrated the creativity of artists with disabilities and neurodiverse artists. This year, the exhibition takes on an even deeper significance by showcasing works created through the RHB #Empower programme, demonstrating how structured capability-building can transform potential into confidence, and confidence into public recognition.

Every artwork displayed here represents more than creative expression. It reflects weeks of learning, perseverance and personal growth. Each brushstroke tells a story of someone choosing to step forward, to communicate an idea, share an emotion, and reveal a perspective that deserves to be seen.

Their works are exhibited alongside those of established Malaysian artists, giving them the same opportunity to engage with visitors, collectors, and the wider public. Their presence is not simply about inclusion; it is a recognition that talent was never absent. What was needed was the opportunity to discover, develop, and showcase that talent.

Ultimately, RHB #Empower develops people. Art with Heart celebrates them.

What visitors encounter in these pages is more than a collection of artworks. It is the visible expression of confidence gained, capabilities developed and potential unlocked, one milestone in each participant's continuing journey towards greater independence, participation and recognition.

SHANA LIM

Hope, kindness, and perseverance shape Shana Lim's artistic journey. A visual artist and model with Down syndrome (Trisomy 21), Shana works primarily in acrylic on canvas, creating uplifting compositions inspired by butterflies, flowers, and moments of quiet beauty. Educated in a mainstream school environment, she later completed the Office Operation Certificate Programme at Stamford College, where she gained vocational and workplace skills that supported her confidence and independence. At the age of 17, she established her own gallery and began showcasing her work through exhibitions, public events, and community initiatives.

Shana approaches painting with warmth, honesty, and an enduring sense of optimism. Her delicate butterflies and vibrant floral forms often symbolise transformation, courage, and the belief that growth happens gradually, one step at a time. Art gives her space to express happiness, calmness, and hope, while her modelling and public engagements allow her to advocate for greater inclusion and recognition of neurodiverse individuals. Through both creative platforms, Shana encourages others to see ability before limitation and to recognise the value of every person's unique strengths. Her participation in the RHB #Empower Programme marks another important step in her development as an artist and creative advocate.

STEPHANIE KUAN

Music, colour, and personal reflection come together in Stephanie Kuan's artistic practice. Working across acrylic and mixed media on canvas, she creates expressive works that explore resilience, hope, and the courage to move beyond uncertainty. Living with intractable epilepsy since the age of 12 has shaped her sensitivity to small moments, inner emotions, and the need for calm, while art has become a lasting source of comfort, joy, and self-expression.

Stephanie's paintings are filled with vibrant colours and flourishing landscapes. These recurring motifs reflect the obstacles she has faced and the possibilities she continues to discover beyond them. She transforms difficult experiences into visual stories of perseverance and renewal. Rich textures and vivid colours carry feelings that may be difficult to express in words, while music provides emotional rhythm and inspiration throughout her creative process. In 2025, two of her artworks were selected for the Hidden Truths Project online showcase in the United States, marking her first international exhibition and an important milestone in the development of her artistic voice.

STEPHANIE TAM

Colour, rhythm, and emotion form the foundation of Stephanie Tam's artistic practice. A contemporary abstract artist and musician with Autism Spectrum Disorder, she works primarily in acrylic on canvas and describes her style as modern expressionist abstraction. Stephanie uses simplified forms, layered colours, and intuitive mark-making to explore identity, faith, family, memory, and human connection. Alongside her visual arts practice, she is a pianist, drummer, and vocalist, and has achieved distinctions and merits in graded music examinations for piano and drums.

For Stephanie, art and music are her most honest languages. When words feel limiting, she communicates through brushstrokes, rhythm, and melody. Living with autism has shaped the way she observes the world, allowing her to notice emotional details, silences, and subtle changes that others may overlook. She does not simply paint what she sees; she paints what remains with her after a moment has passed. Her works often explore resilience, vulnerability, and the hidden forces that support growth, transforming flowers, roots, movement and colour into deeply reflective visual narratives. Through her participation in the RHB #Empower Programme, Stephanie continues to deepen a practice that invites viewers to slow down, feel, and recognise the emotional spaces that exist beyond spoken language.

WEI LUN

Nature, sustainability, and quiet reflection are central to Wei Lun's artistic practice. Living with Autism Spectrum Disorder, Wei Lun discovered art as a creative outlet from a young age, attending formal art classes where he explored sketching, painting, handcraft, and acrylic techniques. He holds a Master in Sustainable Development Management from Sunway University, and his academic background continues to influence the way he observes and interprets the natural world.
