6. What is Margin of Financing (MOF)?

Margin of Financing is the ratio of outstanding balance against the equity.
Outstanding balance means the amount owed after deducting any cash deposit available.
Equity means the sum of the value of securities pledged and purchased or carried in the Facility.
i.e. 50% of MOF means the client has to maintain an equity value of not less than 2 times of the outstanding balance.

7. What are my obligations?

- i. You are required to promptly regularize the account position whenever there is margin call due to breach of Margin Call Threshold.

Margin Threshold	Call	Where the value of the security falls below the threshold of the outstanding balance, you shall within three (3) market days' grace period to regularize the account by either cash/shares top-up or sell down so as to bring the security coverage to not less than the threshold.
		IPO/ ESOS	Single / Multiple Counter
		MOF > 85%	MOF >67%
		Failure to bring the security coverage to the required margin of financing shall result in force selling of your securities on the fourth market day after the date of the margin call. You shall be suspended from buying any further securities under the Facility upon a margin call being made until the required margin of financing is regularized to the satisfaction of the Bank.

- ii. No fixed monthly payment is required. You may make any payment as and when you wish throughout the financing tenure by way of cash top-up or sale proceeds from shares disposal.
- iii. The Interest Rate on this financing is pegged to the SBR which may fluctuate from time to time. An increase in the SBR may result in higher interest charge.
- iv. You are to pay the outstanding sums of the Facility including principal, interest or any other monies due to the Bank upon cancellation or termination of the Facility.

Note: If you have problems meeting your obligations, contact us early to discuss payment alternatives.
