MANAGER'S COMMENTS

MARKET OUTLOOK AND STRATEGY

Moving ahead, The Target Fund Manager is inclined to stay broadly neutral with focus to gather defensive carry. More caution is needed as stretched bond valuations and impending supply pipeline coupled with rising underlying US interest rates will remain the main concern in the near term.

Although strong global economic data is likely to provide support for risk assets, any negative surprises with corporate earnings may lead to some unwinding of the risk as current valuations do not look cheap. In addition, inflationary pressures are expected to gather pace after these periods of robust growth.

On the Asian bond front, technical will likely drive market performance. As at end January, the average Asian credit spread stood at about 222 bps which is about 42 bps tighter than its three-year historical average of 255 bps. On a longer historical basis, current spread is 2 bps narrower from its 2010's low of 215 bps. The record low was 117 bps witnessed just before the global financial crisis in 2008. Overall, the Target Fund Manager looks to trim some of our overweight in the non-investment grade segment but remain inclined to stay overweight in the non-investment grade segment as this segment offers a higher carry and yet minimal impact from rising US interest rate. The Target Fund Manager believes the need for yield remains while credit differentiation is paramount. On the duration strategy, the Target Fund Manager will be staying broadly neutral to slightly short in duration. That said, the Target Fund Manager may engage in tactical duration positioning.

DISCLAIMER:

Based on the fund's portfolio returns as at 15 January 2018, the Volatility Factor (VF) for this fund is 9.0 and is classified as "High". (source: Lipper) "High" includes funds with VF that are above 8.0 but not more than 10.6 (source: Lipper). The VF means there is a possibility for the fund in generating an upside return or downside return around this VF. The Volatility Class (VC) is assigned by Lipper based on quintile ranks of VF for qualified funds. VF is subject to monthly revision and VC will be revised every six months. The fund's portfolio may have changed since this date and there is no guarantee that the fund will continue to have the same VF or VC in the future. Presently, only funds launched in the market for at least 36 months will display the VF and its VC. The VC referred to was dated 31 December 2017 which is calculated once every six months and is valid until its next calculation date, i.e. 30 June 2018.
