MANAGER'S COMMENTS

MARKET OVERVIEW

The S&P 500 index was roughly flat in April, gaining 0.38% and bringing total year-to-date returns to -0.38% (total returns, in USD). While the US and China continued to generate trade headlines, the market and macro impact remained relatively muted over the month. Geopolitical uncertainty stemming from potential US sanctions on Russia also surfaced, resulting in underperformance of the Russian ruble versus the dollar. Moves in the US dollar versus a basket of other developed market (DM) currencies and the broader EM currency complex remained relatively range-bound. A number of macro drivers, including labor market strength, inflation normalization and fiscal stimulus, moved US Treasury yields higher, with the 10-year yield breaching 3% toward month-end. Recent indicators point to a strong US housing market, including the S&P 500 Case Shiller home price index beating expectations in February, and the annual pace of home price inflation rising to 6.8%, the highest level since 2014. The Q1 earning season has been strong so far, with more than half of S&P 500 having reported results. The best performing sectors were Energy, Consumer Discretionary and Utilities, while the worst performing sectors were Consumer Staples, Industrials and Telecommunication Services.

DISCLAIMER:

Based on the fund's portfolio returns as at 15 April 2018, the Volatility Factor (VF) for this fund is 13.0 and is classified as "Very High". (source: Lipper) "Very High" includes funds with VF that are more than 10.6 (source: Lipper). The VF means there is a possibility for the fund in generating an upside return or downside return around this VF. The Volatility Class (VC) is assigned by Lipper based on quintile ranks of VF for qualified funds. VF is subject to monthly revision and VC will be revised every six months. The fund's portfolio may have changed since this date and there is no guarantee that the fund will continue to have the same VF or VC in the future. Presently, only funds launched in the market for at least 36 months will display the VF and its VC. The VC referred to was dated 31 December 2017 which is calculated once every six months and is valid until its next calculation date, i.e. 30 June 2018.

A Product Highlights Sheet ("PHS") highlighting the key features and risks of the Fund is available and investors have the right to request for a PHS. Investors are advised to obtain, read and understand the PHS and the contents of the Master Prospectus dated 15 July 2017 and its supplementary(ies) (if any) ("the Master Prospectus") before investing. The Master Prospectus has been registered with the Securities Commission Malaysia who takes no responsibility for its contents. Amongst others, investors should consider the fees and charges involved. Investors should also note that the price of units and distributions payable, if any, may go down as well as up. Where a distribution is declared, investors are advised that following the issue of additional units/distribution, the NAV per unit will be reduced from cum-distribution NAV to ex-distribution NAV. Any issue of units to which the Master Prospectus relates will only be made on receipt of a form of application referred to in the Master Prospectus. For more details, please call 1-800-88-3175 for a copy of the PHS and the Master Prospectus or collect one from any of our branches or authorised distributors.

The Manager wishes to highlight the specific risks of the Fund are investment manager risk, market risk, currency risk, liquidity risk, regulatory risk, risk of substantial redemption and suspension of NAV calculation or limitation or redemption payment. These risks and other general risks are elaborated in the Master Prospectus.
