MANAGER'S COMMENTS
MARKET REVIEW

US Treasury (“UST”) 10-year yields started the month of June 2018 below 2.90%, at 2.87% due to Italian political turmoil, however began its ascension higher to reach 2.975% (2Y was +3bps to 2.524%) within a week on worries that the European Central Bank (“ECB”) may wind down its EUR 2.55 trillion (USD $3 trillion) Quantitative Easing (“QE”) program earlier than the anticipated September 2018 timing, which triggered a broad selloff in German Bunds and core European government bonds, spilling over to the US Treasuries. After brief attempts to head higher to above 3%, we ended the month with a rally to 2.86% as the second round of escalating trade tensions between the 2 biggest economies in the world weighed on global growth sentiment. The UST issued a total of $715bio of bills and bonds in the month of June 2018 mainly in the front end bills of 1 to 6 month tenor. At the end of June 2018 close, the benchmark 2-, 5-, 10- and 30-year UST were last traded at 2.53% (May-2018: 2.43% +10bps), 2.74% (2.70%; +4bps), 2.86% (2.95%; -9bps) and 2.99% (3.12%; -13bps) respectively. The US Treasury bond yield curve had bull flattened significantly from May, on flight to safety, while front end continues the march higher due to the rate hike.

In terms of significant economic data release, the Institute of Supply Management (“ISM”) Manufacturing Index for May 2018 printed at 58.7, up 1.4% from April. Nonfarm Payrolls (“NFP”) in the United States released for May 2018 showed the economy added 223,000 new jobs against 190,000 consensus estimate. Average Hourly Earnings edged up 2.7% slightly higher than with consensus estimates of 2.6%. On inflation, the United States Personal Consumption Expenditure (“PCE”), the Fed’s preferred measure of inflation, registered 2% YoY growth for May 2018, while headline Consumer Price Index (“CPI”) rose 2.8% YoY (Non-Seasonally adjusted), versus 2.5% in April while core CPI rose 2.2%, slightly higher than last month’s reading of 2.1%. Unemployment Rate fell to new lows as well at 3.8%YoY for May 2018 (Previous month was 3.9%). U.S. trade deficit fell to a seven-month low in April of $46.2bio (expectations were for $49bio) which further strengthened views that the Federal Reserve would raise short-term interest rates at least twice more this year.
