MANAGER'S COMMENTSMARKET REVIEW

Emerging markets (EM) equities underperformed their developed counterparts as protracted trade tensions and a strengthening US dollar continued to weigh on returns. The US announced an initial list of $50bn of Chinese imports that will face tariffs, to which China responded in equal measure. In addition to Chinese equities, trade uncertainty held back Asian markets more broadly, particularly affecting South Korea and Singapore. From a fixed income perspective, emerging corporate bonds continue to see negative total returns as spreads widened. EM sovereign bonds likewise declined, with local currency bonds in particular remaining under pressure from the strengthening dollar.

PORTFOLIO ACTIVITY

As protectionist rhetoric and US dollar strength persist as near-term headwinds, the Target Fund Manager expects volatility to remain elevated. In what remains a challenging environment, the Target Fund Manager reduced their broad equity exposure. US dollar strength continued to depress local debt markets, where the Target Fund Manager reduced their position in favour of short-dated USD denominated debt.

MARKET OUTLOOK

Overall the Target Fund Manager believes that this is a time to be patient until the outlook for global trade starts to clarify. That said, recent market turbulence has created some unusually compelling opportunities across asset classes and the Target Fund Manager will look to gradually increase their exposure as these continue to emerge.
