MANAGER'S COMMENTS
MARKET REVIEW

Developed real estate equities finished the period marginally higher with all regions delivering positive returns. European REITs led the gains with Asia Pacific and North America following.

MARKET OUTLOOK

The Target Fund Manager continues to focus on real estate equities with larger market capitalisations, a bias towards recurring income (rather than stocks biased towards development) and lower leverage. The Target Fund Manager believes that underlying real estate markets in the US are, in general, characterised by sound economic fundamentals, although new supply is increasing in some key markets. Company earnings growth has returned to more normalised levels following several years of above-average growth. Parts of the retail market remain challenged. However, sentiment has improved relative to 2017 due to fewer retailer bankruptcies/store closures and supportive tax measures for both consumers (lower income tax) and retailers with a bricks and mortar presence (online sales tax ruling). Further interest rate rises could lead to short term price volatility across the listed real estate sector. The Target Fund Manager believes the UK's vote to leave the EU is likely to weaken demand from property occupiers over the long term, with Central London – and particularly the City – most affected. The UK retail market is also struggling, with elevated store closures. Market conditions in the Asia Pacific region vary greatly and portfolio positioning reflects the Target Fund Manager's outlook for both the underlying physical markets and listed market pricing.
