MANAGER'S COMMENTS

MARKET REVIEW

Malaysian Ringgit (“MYR”) continued to depreciate against the United States Dollar (“USD”) in September 2018, the 5th consecutive month since April despite Brent crude continuing to rally. USDMYR climbed from 4.1285 at the start of the month and closed the end of the month above the 4.1383, representing a -0.71% total return, and overall the 5rd worst performing Asian currency after the Japanese Yen (“JPY”), Indian Rupee (“INR”), Indonesia Rupiah (“IDR”) and Philippine Peso (“PHP”). Local government bond yields appeared to be holding up well as levels continue to be supported during the month. Although the Malaysia Government Securities (“MGS”) drifted higher at the early part of the month by 10-15 basis points (“bps”) as the fear of contagion risks from the sell-off of Emerging Market (“EM”) currencies, local bond market remain resilient, anchored by strong domestic support. We believe onshore real money accounts have remained supportive in recent months, reflected by strong bid to cover (“BTC”) trends from concluded government bond tenders. Overall, the curve has bear-flattened during the month with short-tenor MGS softened about 10 bps while the longer-tenor cheapened just by less than 3 bps as the upward movement in yields at the early part of the month ended with bargain hunting opportunity for some investors. At month-end closed, MGS yields 3-, 5-, 7-, 10-, 15-, 20- and 30-year MGS were reported at 3.60% (Aug-2018: 3.48%), 3.75% (3.70%), 3.95% (3.94%), 4.07% (4.04%), 4.49% (4.47%), 4.68% (4.68%) and 4.91% (4.90%) respectively. The Government Investment Issues (“GII”) – Shariah compliant version of MGS mirrored the same pattern with its MGS counterpart as the short-tenor yield ended higher while the backend of the curve flattened. At month end close, the 3-, 5-, 7-, 10-, 15-, 20- and 30-year GII were reported at 3.70% (Aug-2018: 3.51%), 3.87% (3.82%), 4.02% (4.00%), 4.14% (4.14%), 4.56% (4.53%), 4.75% (4.75%) and 4.93% (4.92%) respectively.

On the local front, BNM at their last Monetary Policy Meeting (“MPC”) kept policy rates on hold as widely expected. However, the MPC was seen to be less optimistic on domestic growth as the “ongoing infrastructure projects” are no longer a driver of fixed investments. Therefore, public spending was seen to weigh heavily to support the domestic growth for the time being. We are of the view that the upcoming Budget 2019, scheduled to be on 2nd November 2018, will provide further clarification on the government’s efforts and plans to improve domestic growth while being prudent in terms fiscal measures. Despite the downside surprise in the 2nd Quarter 2018 GDP, BNM takes comfort from strength in underlying demand from the local economy which has remained robust despite slight moderation in exports. Notwithstanding, BNM has now lowered their 2018 GDP forecast to 5.0% from their initial range of 5.5%-6.0% previously. With a lower GDP forecast for 2018, BNM is expected to maintain the OPR at 3.25%, signalling its comfort with its current monetary policy stance, as the temporary disinflation weakens the case for rate hikes, balanced against financial stability considerations that may raise the hurdle for rate cuts.

DISCLAIMER:

Based on the fund’s portfolio returns as at 15 September 2018, the Volatility Factor (VF) for this fund is 0.1 and is classified as “Very Low”. (source: Lipper) “Very Low” includes funds with VF that are above 0.0 but not more than 1.9 (source: Lipper). The VF means there is a possibility for the fund in generating an upside return or downside return around this VF.
