MANAGER'S COMMENTS

MARKET REVIEW

Investor sentiment on global equities was riding high in the beginning of January 2020 before falling prey to the Coronavirus-induced pneumonia outbreak in Wuhan, China. Global equities lost 3.6% in the last two weeks to end the month of January 2020 down 1.2%, as the risk of contagion from the potential epidemic threatens to derail the recovery in global growth. Asia ex-Japan fell 4.5% in January 2020. China/Hong Kong declined 4.8%/4.5% as the optimism around the Phase I trade deal was overshadowed by the grim reality of the corona virus that has claimed more than 400 lives till date. The Chinese central bank has been easing liquidity conditions in the system to support the financial markets as well as the real economy.

While the benchmark FBM KLCI index did have a boost at the start of the year, it all went downhill from the second week onwards when the news broke out on Iran hitting a US military base in Iraq in retaliation against US forces for the killing of general Qasem Soleimani in Baghdad on 3 January 2020. The index hasn't really looked back since with major global news headlines focusing on anything and everything relating to the coronavirus. In line with the global risk off sentiment, the FBM KLCI closed -3.6% for the month of January 2020.

MARKET OUTLOOK AND STRATEGY

Novel Corona virus will have a short term impact on regional GDP growth. The stricter quarantines and travel bans issued now will likely hurt consumer and traveler sentiment more than did the efforts to counter SARS. Asian economies entered this situation with much less momentum than during SARS, and we see a risk that macro weakness could persist even after the novel Corona virus recedes.

In terms of strategy, the domestic equity market will continue to adjust to external developments especially on the novel corona virus outbreak, global trade tensions, US interest rate movement and domestically on the government's new policies and actions. However, with the gradual revival of earnings growth, undemanding valuation and subsiding foreign selling flows, the market will gradually perform. We will focus on stocks with good earnings growth potential and accumulating good quality stocks during weakness to benefit the fund in the longer term.
