MANAGER'S COMMENTS

MARKET OUTLOOK AND STRATEGY

Looking ahead, the Target Fund Manager prefers to turn slightly positive in Asia credit bonds as more investors' confidence returned to market amid attractive bond valuation. Rising COVID-19 confirmed cases in Brazil, Russia and India, and drastically weak economic data seen surfacing in recent weeks do not seem to put many investors on their toes. With more and more countries lifting or easing their cities off the strict lockdown mode, businesses can soon start to resume their operations. These though not big steps, are still decent baby steps towards restarting the global economy and thus should translate to the bottoming or gradual economic recovery. Nevertheless, negative headlines of businesses in financial stresses or even business failures were inevitable as the global economy readjusts itself to adapt in the world of "new normal".

Overall, the Target Fund Manager's broad strategy remains to advocate defensive carry in 2020, need to stay calm and ride through this volatile period. Enormous liquidity pumped into the global system, coupled with the anchored Asian demand and manageable supply will be a favourable technical contributor towards the returns for Asia Credit asset into 2020. All said, the Target Fund Manager reiterates the importance of credit differentiation and staying invested. The Target Fund Manager will continue to scrutinize issuers' profile for adequacy, their abilities to cope with the impacts during this challenging viral period and to evaluate the new potential business strategies they devised as the Target Fund Manager moves ahead into the "new normal" world. On the duration strategy, the Target Fund Manager will be staying broadly neutral in overall duration though they may engage in tactical duration positioning.
