MANAGER'S COMMENTS
MARKET OVERVIEW

Markets remained volatile in May as concerns over the Coronavirus situation and resurgent US-China tensions weighed on markets, in contrast with the optimism over reopening economies. Asian equities recorded a slight negative return over the month. Australia and Malaysia outperformed, while Hong Kong fell markedly on the proposed national security law by mainland China. Singapore also finished in the negative territory. In fixed income, the 10-year US Treasury yield was flat and corporate credit outperformed on tighter spreads.

MARKET STRATEGY AND OUTLOOK
Equity

Over the month, the Target Fund Manager did not make material changes within the equity portfolio. The Target Fund Manager initiated a new position in a Hong Kong broadband service provider which boasts strong dividend growth on the back of increasing market share. Its mobile business has also performed better than expected, providing an alternative source of income for the company. Given the nature of its business, the Target Fund Manager expects dividend payout to remain relatively stable, albeit the weaker market environment. Elsewhere, the Target Fund Manager trimmed a Hong Kong banking name amid the headwinds of the falling interest rates and challenging economic conditions. Loan growth is expected to slow on falling personal and corporate demand while net interest margin could also narrow given lower yields and interest rates. Although valuations remain below historical average, the Target Fund Manager struggles to see substantial upside catalysts in the near-term.

From a cyclical perspective, the Target Fund Manager believes sectors such as technology and materials offer more attractive opportunities to capture growth and income given signs of an economic rebound while the Target Fund Manager gradually rotate away from banks where dividend growth may be hampered. The Target Fund Manager also remain cautious on sectors related to travel, leisure and hospitality. For REITs, although the Target Fund Manager has reduced the exposures, the recent legislation to allow for floating of REITs in the China onshore market is a welcomed development. Assets involved at the initial stage focus largely on large-scale infrastructure projects to ensure financial stability, and it is likely to expand to private real estates in commercial and residential areas later on. These should provide us with new stable income opportunities in the sector going forward.

Fixed Income

In fixed income, the Target Fund Manager took profit on a Korea automotive finance company which have rallied strongly after its issuance in early April. The Target Fund Manager has also exited a Macau gaming name which also delivered strong returns despite the tough revenue environment and ongoing travel restrictions. On a positive note, the Macau government may relax travel measures in the coming months, and the Target Fund Manager may look to add back to the sector once the Target Fund Manager sees more clarity in the virus situation. In terms of new issuances, the Target Fund Manager introduced some names in Indonesia and the Middle East within the materials and energy sector, which offer attractive yields in addition to strong credit profiles and state support. The Target Fund Manager also added an Australia real estate group which operates shopping centre in the region. This is a rotation trade as the name offers better valuation and a different exposure to capture the cyclical recovery relative to the Macau gaming names. Despite declining tourism and consumer sentiment in recent months, the Target Fund Manager believes the company's premium positioning and diversified mix should help retain sales and tenants.

Against the backdrop of volatility as markets grappled with uncertainties of Covid-19 and its impact on growth, the Target Fund Manager has been defensively positioned by favouring higher quality credit names, striking a balance between defensiveness and the agility to go offence on those securities with attractive risk/reward profiles that the Target Fund Manager believes are able to navigate the credit cycle. The Target Fund Manager continues to focus on bottom-up selection in order to avoid those names with fallen angel risk or downgrade pressure. Liquidity conditions in the corporate credit space has improved due to the unprecedented stimulus package from the Fed and global policy makers. Overall valuation in the credit market now looks fair, yet the Target Fund Manager still see pockets of opportunities by acquiring high quality names.
