RHB AMERICAN INCOME FUND - USD CLASS B

MANAGER'S COMMENTS
GLOBAL MARKET REVIEW

Global fixed-income markets were mixed in August, as the real economic impact of the virus unfolded, including increased evictions and more permanent job loss. Projected skyrocketing budget deficits, including 16% of GDP for the US next year—a level not seen since 1945—and further responses by central banks resulted in steepening curves as short-term rates remained anchored and required term premiums increased across global government yields. Punitively low rates and a focus on economic stability with less inflation restraint provided incentive for investors to continue to seek out yield where available as they acclimate to the repressive impact of ongoing reductions in purchasing power from sitting in cash.

As widely expected, US Federal Reserve (the Fed) Chair Jerome Powell unveiled a shift to average inflation targeting during a speech at the virtual Jackson Hole Economic Policy Symposium. This subtle change in long-standing policy by the Federal Open Market Committee (FOMC) explicitly indicated that “following periods when inflation has been running persistently below 2 percent, appropriate monetary policy will likely aim to achieve inflation moderately above 2 percent for some time.” The Fed also noted that “many participants [of the FOMC] judged that yield caps and targets were not warranted in the current environment but should remain an option.”

Nongovernment sector returns were mixed. Lower-quality risk assets posted positive results as market participants searched for higher yields. Globally, high-yield corporate bonds had positive returns and continued to rally, while investment-grade corporate bonds declined as interest-rate increases overshadowed the credit rally as spreads tightened. The Bloomberg Barclays US Corporate High Yield Index returned 0.95%, with transportation up the most, returning 3.61%, while insurance returned 0.12%.

In securitized assets, CMBS and CRTs performed well. Brent crude oil advanced 4.6%, even as OPEC+ started to roll back production cuts. Gold was relatively flat after a several-month rally.

Performance in EM bonds was largely positive, led by EM corporates. EM corporates returned 0.90% in the CEMBI Broad Diversified Index, and EM hard-currency sovereigns were also positive, returning 0.51% in the EMBI Global Diversified Index. The US dollar retreated against major developed-market (DM) currencies, except the yen, and was mixed versus EM currencies. Net long currency bets on the euro relative to the US dollar reached a record high in August.
