MANAGER'S COMMENTS

MARKET REVIEW

The S&P 500 index decreased in October, returning -2.66% (total return, in USD). While the majority of third quarter earnings results for US companies that reported in October came in above consensus, equity prices declined against a backdrop of heightened market expectations. Political uncertainty surrounding US elections was also a source of volatility during the month. Despite these headwinds, some support for equities was provided by a 33.1% increase in US Gross Domestic Product in the third quarter as businesses continued resuming activity that was postponed or restricted as a result of COVID-19. The best performing sectors were Utilities, Communication Services, and Materials while the worst performing sectors were Information Technology, Energy, and Health Care.

DISCLAIMER:

The fund's portfolio may have changed since this date and there is no guarantee that the fund will continue to have the same VF or VC in the future.
