MANAGER'S COMMENTS

MARKET REVIEW

The Fed surprised the market (again) in December by taking the first step toward unwinding the unprecedented stimulus by US$10 billion per month (from US$85 billion) on improved economic data. UST yields were stable as the Fed committed that its benchmark rate remain low well past the time that the unemployment rate declines below 6.5%, especially if projected inflation continues to run below the Fed's 2% target. 10-year UST closed the year at 3.03%, just marginally above September high at 2.99%; while the 5-year UST closed the year at 1.74%.

While 10-year US Treasury looks to trend higher over the course of 2014, the pace of increase is likely to be measured unlike the sharp correction experienced in 2013 as tapering was largely reflected. Fed funds target rate, currently at 0-0.25%, will remain low as the Fed seems intent on using forward guidance to keep the short rates low and well anchored.

STRATEGY

We will continue to be defensive and stay nimble in light of market volatility while overweighting on good quality high grade credits. The OSK Focus bond funds will await opportunistically for entry points as well as participate in primary issues with attractive pricing to deploy cash selectively.
