MANAGER'S COMMENTS

FUND OBJECTIVE

The Fund objective is to provide regular income distributions from the investment in a Fixed Rate Note ("FRN") issued by Citigroup Funding Inc.

INVESTOR PROFILE

Suitable for investors seeking regular income distributions over an investment horizon of 3 years.

MARKET BRIEF

The Fund registered a positive return of 4.82%, outperformed its benchmark* return of 0.21% for the month of July 2014. The Fund's outperformance is mainly attributed to the income payout during the period.

Note: *Reserve Bank of Australia Cash Rate

Australian Commonwealth Government Bonds ("ACGB") bearish flattened alongside with US Treasury. As at 31 July 2014, the 3-, 5-, 10- and 15-year ACGB were transacted at 2.71% (June: 2.61%), 2.96% (2.95%), 3.51% (3.54%), and 3.87% (3.91%) respectively.

The June quarter inflation provided a timely reminder to markets that the RBA is unlikely to cut rates further. Indeed, the Bank's preferred measure of underlying inflation was close to the top of the 2%-3% target. Inflation now needs to fall to validate the RBA's forecast of 2½% by the end of this year. We think this may be slightly optimistic. But even if it does occur, this would only be consistent with the RBA's neutral bias. At the same time, there has been little new information to materially shift the RBA's views on the outlook for the economy over the next 12 months. Downside risks from China's slowdown seem to have abated and the AUD, while a headwind, has remained fairly stable.

Domestically, unemployment is still a little below the RBA's forecast, business conditions are moderately below average, while consumer sentiment has retraced almost all of the federal-Budget-related plunge to sit around average levels. We continue to see rates staying on hold through to around mid-2015.
