MANAGER'S COMMENTSEQUITY MARKET REVIEW

When we thought we have seen the worst in results season in 2Q14, little did we realise that 3Q14 would be an extension to the disappointments. This resulted in November being another volatile month, similar to October. The first half of November saw the KLCI gave back much of the sharp rebound enjoyed in October despite Wall Street's continued strength, before pushing higher again towards the second half of the month. For the month, the KLCI slipped 1.9% or 35pts to close at 1,820pts. The broader market underperformed, with the FBM Emas falling 2.6% mom to 12,539pts. Small caps performance was even worst with the FBM Small cap index down 7.0% to 16,443pts.

On the domestic economic front, BNM kept Overnight Policy Rate ("OPR") at 3.25% as widely expected. November was the last Monetary Policy Committee ("MPC") committee meeting for the year and the Central Bank has only delivered 25bps of policy rate hike throughout 2014, in contrast with the 50bps hike expected in the beginning of the year. The 3Q2014 GDP growth slowed to 5.6% YoY (2Q2014: 6.5% YoY) on weaker net exports as well as gross investments. Current Account surplus also narrowed sharply to RM7.6bil (or 2.8% of GDP), from RM16.0bil (or 6.1% of GDP) reported in 2Q2014. Lastly, October CPI came slightly positive when it grew 2.8% YoY (September: 2.6% YoY) against consensus estimate of 3.0% YoY despite fuel (RON95 and diesel) prices adjusted higher.

MARKET OUTLOOK

December has traditionally been a window dressing month but we think it could be an expensive activity to do this year. Our house has lowered the year end KLCI target to 1,880 earlier after taking into consideration the poor performances from the companies' earnings (consensus earnings growth c. 1.2%-1.5%) as well as no further major catalyst to entice investors to participate in the local indices in the near term. Despite the challenging scenario for the KLCI, we will continue to bottom pick stocks that have shown resilient earnings in the last 11 months (although limited). The small to mid-cap space has also showed some promising companies for bottom-fishing.
