MANAGER'S COMMENTSMARKET REVIEW

The FBMKLCI experienced some volatility in July, with the index scaling new all-time highs early in the month but met with profit taking activities. As anticipated and as per earlier guidance, Bank Negara Malaysia (BNM) increased the Overnight Policy Rate (OPR) by 25bps to 3.25%, the first hike in over three years. The tragic and unfortunate loss of flight MH17, just four months after MH370 was also a headline news for the country. The FBMKLCI ended the month 11 points lower or -0.6% to close at 1,871 points, underperforming its regional peers. The broader market however outperformed the key index with selected small caps rallying. Average daily value traded for the month on Bursa increased 13% MoM to RM2.1b.

On the domestic economic front, May trade surplus narrowed again to RM5.72bil as imports outpaced exports. May's Industrial Production rose 6.0% YoY, led by manufacturing activities. June inflation edged up slightly to 3.3% YoY, in line with market consensus. The local bond market bullish flattened across the curve in July despite the 25bps hike in OPR on 10th July, which came in as expected with the market interpreting the accompanying MPC statement as neutral. As a result, investors were seen adding duration causing the MGS yield curve to flatten. Corporate bond trading volume continued to surge in July with RM550mil of daily trades compared to RM408mil a month ago. Similar to govies, credit investors were seen extending duration as most of the trades in July were long dated bonds.

MARKET OUTLOOK

Global economic growth is ticking up, thanks to the various Quantitative easing (QE), accommodative and supportive packages by major world economies over the past few years. Despite hiccups along the way, there have been improvements in employment levels, business and consumer confidence, and industrial and manufacturing activities globally. With the U.S. poised to taper off completely its massive QE pumping before the end of 2014 and start guiding on its current ultra-low interest rates, markets will continue to adjust to this transition from liquidity-driven to a more fundamental and growth-driven focus.

Malaysia is expected to grow between 4.5%-5.5% in 2014, likely nearer the upper band and higher than the 4.7% registered for 2013 and supported by a better global economy and investment spending. Inflation will be higher at 3.0%-4.0% from increased fuel and electricity costs and expectations of more reduction in subsidies moving forward and expected inflationary expectations prior to GST implementation. BNM is likely to maintain its 3.25% OPR level for the rest of 2014 after the hike in July. Fiscal restraints including those which were introduced by Prime Minister Dato' Seri Najib during the tabling of Budget 2014 are expected to continue.

Equities still look favourable as an asset class backed by corporate earnings growth, a conducive economic environment and a more stable fiscal plan. For fixed income, preference for corporate bonds is maintained, providing a steady income stream. Asset allocation (in-line with asset allocation limits) will be pro-actively managed with market movements to optimize investment returns.
