KEY RISKS

General risks of investing in a unit trust fund
Returns not guaranteed	The investment of the fund is subject to market fluctuations and its inherent risk. There is NO GUARANTEE on the investment returns, nor any assurance that the fund’s investment objective will be achieved.
General market environment risk	Refers to the possibility that an investment will lose value because of a general decline in financial markets, due to economic, political and/or other factors, which will result in a decline in the fund’s NAV.
Inflation risk	This is the risk that investors’ investment in the unit trust fund may not grow or generate income at a rate that keeps pace with inflation. This would reduce investors’ purchasing power even though the value of the investment in monetary terms has increased.
Manager’s risk	This risk refers to the day-to-day management of the Fund by the manager which will impact the performance of the fund, e.g. Investment decisions undertaken by the manager as a result of an incorrect view of the market may adversely affect the performance of the fund.
Loan financing risk	This risk occurs when investors finance their investment. The inherent risk of investing with borrowed money includes investors being unable to service the loan repayments.

Specific risks of the Fund
Stock specific risk	Prices of a particular stock may fluctuate in response to the circumstances affecting individual companies such as adverse financial performance, news of a possible merger or loss of key personnel of a company. Any adverse price movements of such stock will adversely affect the fund's NAV.
Credit and default risk	Credit risk relates to the creditworthiness of the securities issuers or counterparties and their expected ability to make timely payment of interest and/or principal. Default risk relates to the risk a securities issuer or counterparties either defaulting on payments or failing to make payments in a timely manner. If the risk materializes, the value of the fund could be adversely affected.
Interest rate risk	Interest rate risk refers to the impact of interest rate changes on the valuation of debt instruments. When interest rates rise, debt instruments prices generally decline and this may lower the market value of the fund's investment in debt instruments.
Country risk	Investments of the Fund in any countries may be affected by changes in the economic and political climate, restriction on currency repatriation or other developments in the law or regulations of the countries in which the Fund invests in. For example, deteriorating economic condition of such countries may adversely affect the Fund's NAV.
Currency risk	As the investments of the Fund may be denominated in currencies other than the base currency, any fluctuation in the exchange rate between the base currency and the currencies in which the investments are denominated may have an impact on the value of these investments. Any gains or losses arising from the fluctuation in the exchange rate may further increase or decrease the returns of the investment.
Risk of investing in emerging markets	Investment in emerging markets generally involves a higher degree of risk due to the greater possibility of political or economic instability and societal tensions. As such, you should be aware that investments in emerging markets may subject to higher price volatility and therefore will tend to have a higher investment risks that will affect the fund's growth.
